[1.Main Story] In the Lands Between, players begin their journey as a Tarnished and are given an opportunity to equip a variety of weapons and armor. In combat, players can gain knowledge and power to cast various skills and a variety of commands, allowing you to unleash skills and commands on a will, and in the process be healed or replenish health. It is known to join metal sheets for forming an industrial part or product, by swaging metal sheets together. In this process, the metal sheets are clamped together by a fastening tool, and then moved into a swaging unit where the fastening tool is advanced relative to the sheets. The tool applies forces to the metal sheets that deform them so that the edges and surfaces become aligned. In order to achieve maximum precision and strength, as well as to avoid any strain in the finished part, the tool is moved at high speeds. This typically requires a corresponding machine speed. One of the problems associated with swaging tools is that they become dull after a period of use. This can result in the formation of burrs, or in the generation of particles that can become incorporated into the swage. The burrs or particles can cause the deformed area to be weaker than the un-deformed area. As a result, the strength of the finished part or product may be compromised. This is particularly troublesome when the part or product has a keyhole shape. In this case, the inner surface is placed under greater stress than the outer surface, thereby weakening the inner surface. The present invention relates to Internet communications, and more particularly to systems and methods for managing and routing communications over the Internet. A number of companies now provide billing services and other kinds of business services over the Internet. These Internet service providers may offer customers Internet access, Internet access with a host of other services, or provide a combination of both. Customers of Internet service providers typically provide the Internet service providers with their own private networks. These private networks are often hosted by a customer of the Internet service provider or are hosted remotely by the Internet service provider. Many customers of Internet service providers desire to have Internet connectivity provided at some location remote from the customer's private network, thereby making the private network and its associated service accessible via the public Internet. In many cases, the Internet service provider will manage the customer's private network and Internet connections and provide the Internet access through a managed service. Alternatively, the customer may provide Internet access using a modem, router or other device
